Malfin SA and V Soft Technologies has made compliance with directives simple and cost effective

On 29th April 2020

The department of Employment and Labour issued directives (Gazette 43257) which requires the employer to provide and maintain as far as reasonably practicable, a working environment that is safe and without risks to the health of workers and customers and take such steps as may reasonably practicable to eliminate or mitigate the hazard or potential hazard.

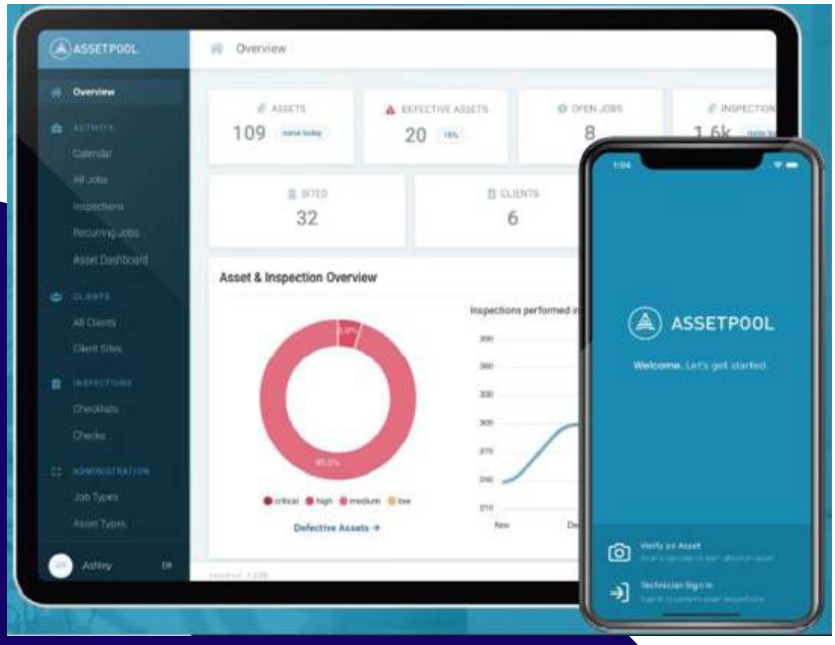

These directives seek to ensure that the measures taken by employers under OHSA are consistent with the overall national strategies and policies to minimise the spread of COVID-19.
